

SHOUT ABOUT YOUR VOLUNTEERING

My name is Stuart and I am a Graphic Designer.

I was privileged to be able to design a logo for my friends who live in Morden.

I did this online all the way from Australia!

The logo was for my friends' mission Enabling Evie. This raises awareness and money for the Tree of Hope children's charity.

What do I enjoy about giving my time?

The charity pays for care and therapy for my friend's baby daughter Evie, who was sadly born with brain damage and cancer in both her eyes.

What I enjoyed most about volunteering was using my professional experience for a cause close to my heart.

The biggest challenge I faced was how my friends would react to my design. Fortunately they loved it and their friends even changed their profile pictures on Facebook which raised more awareness.

This volunteering benefits Merton because Enabling Evie is a local awareness-raising and fundraising cause that is now able to engage more effectively with the public.

James and Aimey are incredible people and mean so much to me that I didn't think twice about giving my time and skills for their family's cause. I also paid to copyright the logo for them as my present to Evie.
